Louis Booker and Charlie Carbone are close friends with an association with the mob. After the duo botch a delivery of stolen TVs, the duo are given a second chance by mob leader Sal Maggio, who happens to be Charlie's stepfather. The duo are to deliver $50,000 to a contact in Australia. As simple as the job sounds, complications emerge when a kangaroo steals the money. Now Charlie and Louis must find the kangaroo and get the money back before they find themselves in a worse predicament. This is the story of two best friends Charlie Carbone, a hair stylist in New York and Louis Booker, a down-on-the-luck musician, who both are involved with the local mob family led by Salvatore 'Sal' Maggio. After their first job attempt at delivering stolen televisions to a local warehouse was backfired by brining the heat (the NYPD), Sal, completely upset, gives Charlie and Louis one more chance at redemption. His younger employee, Frankie Lombardo, gives the guys the most important assignment: to fly to Australia and deliver the mob's $50,000 to a Mr. Smith in the exact time. And so begins a cross-content trek of mishaps including: ramming a kangaroo down on the road, flying in a bush airplane and tranquilizing the pilot, walking in the burning desert, and eventually teaming up with a wildlife expert named Jessie to chase down the kangaroo who has the the $50,000 mob money. Can Charlie, Louis, and Jessie survive the heat, get the money, and save the day without getting killed by the mob? This movie was targeted for kids, but I will be honest and if I had taken kids to see this movie, I would have taken them out of the theater. It is ridiculous how everyone tries to capitalize on sex in the media today. What is our society coming to when a children's movie has to be filled with sexual references? What need is there for a hot girl in a wet white shirt in a scene that would excite any young teenager? Also the movie trailers made the movie seem like it focused mainly on the kangaroo, while the kangaroo was hardly in the movie at all. I will admit I found parts of the movie funny. I would only recommend this movie to college students who want a good laugh. Most people have been voting this movie a 1 because it is not their type of movie. I am voting this movie a 1 because it is a children's movie that is not suited for children to watch. My 8-year-old son had this to say: 'I don't like those 'trash-talk' reviews! It's my favorite movie now. Kangaroo Jack looked so cool with that red jacket of Louis Booker. And my favorite scene was when they were riding on the camels and the camels were farting like every two seconds! Another funny scene is when Kangaroo Jack kicks Charlie in the chest and hops away with all the money. I liked the cool music too. In the DVD extras you can learn Jacky's dance grooves. I got movie pictures from the Internet all over my room. All my friends liked the movie and they even watched it in German! I give it 10 stars.' A dumb, by-the-numbers children's movie. a5c7b9f00b
